

APPENDIX B

Members of the American Watercolor Society, 1866–1922

Compiled by Cynthia Haveson Veloric

This list includes members elected from 1867 to 1922, the year after the American Watercolor Society (AWS) and the New York Water Color Club began to exhibit together. The list was compiled using four sources: for dates from 1866 to 1913, American Watercolor Society records, 1867–1977, Archives of American Art [AAA], Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC; for dates from 1914 to 1922, American Watercolor Society exhibition catalogues, New York Art Resources Consortium, <http://arcade.nyarc.org/record=b1142750~s1>; for dates after 1922, the list of members in Frank Gervasi’s draft of “History of the American Watercolor Society, 1866–1950,” AWS records, AAA, and Ralph Fabri, History of the American Watercolor Society: The First Hundred Years (New York: American Watercolor Society, 1969), pp. 88–90.

* Honorary members, a category that included nonresident professionals and connoisseurs until about 1873, when the term Associate was added to describe nonresidents; both of these categories were dropped after 1878, although resident and nonresident members continued to be listed separately in the catalogues until 1902.

† Associate members between 1897 and 1921, when the category was reinstated, “ranking them with Resident Members, excepting the right to vote or hold office” (AWS minutes, March 17, 1897, AAA).
